Accreditation Regulations Specific for HKCAS – Certification Body

1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 This document provides specific regulations for accreditation of certification bodies under the Hong Kong Certification Body Accreditation Scheme. All accredited certification bodies shall conform with all the regulations stated in this document at all times. For an applicant certification body, accreditation will only be granted after it has demonstrated to the satisfaction of HKAS Executive its competence and commitment to conforming with all the regulations stated in this document.

1.2 This document shall be used in conjunction with HKCAS 002 – Regulations for HKAS Accreditation.

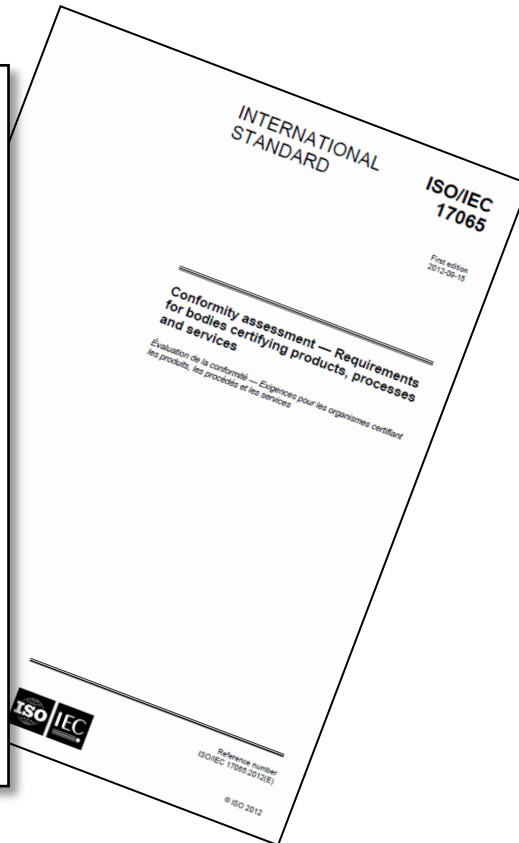

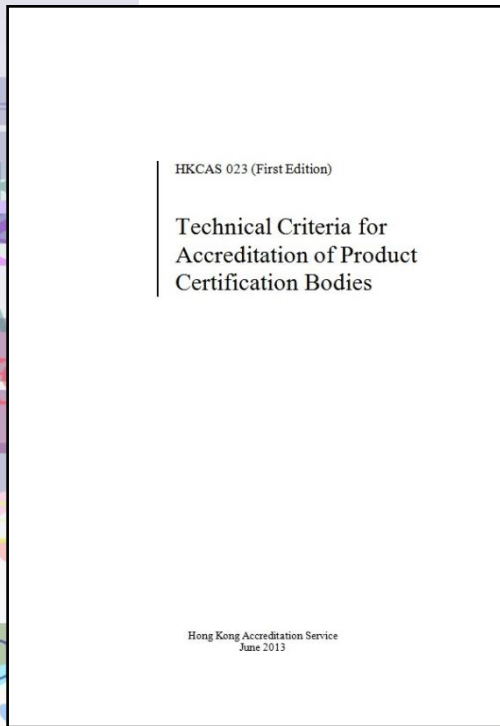

1.3 This document may be amended from time to time and the up-to-date version is uploaded to the HKAS website at the address of www.hkas.gov.hk.

2 CERTIFICATION BODY ACCREDITATION PROCEDURES

2.1 An assessment team may, at its discretion, carry out an observation on a certification body while it is performing certification audits for which it is accredited or seeking accreditation. The certification body shall seek consent from and shall explain to its customers concerning the presence of the assessment team in such certification audits. The certification body shall further advise its customer that the presence of the assessment team during the certification audits will not affect the outcome of the audits.

2.2 HKAS Executive shall conduct a measurement on the accredited activities of a certification body every three years after the accreditation has been granted. The measurement schedule may be varied at the discretion of HKAS Executive.

2.3 HKAS Executive shall also conduct a surveillance visit to an accredited certification body routinely every six months for management system certification and twelve months for product certification. HKAS Executive has discretion to vary the period for measurement and surveillance visit as it sees fit.

Key components in certification documentation

ISO/IEC 17065:2012(E)

7.7 Certification documentation

7.7.1 The certification body shall provide the client with formal certification documentation that clearly conveys, or permits identification of the following:

- a) the name and address of the certification body;
- b) the date certification is granted (the date shall not precede the date on which the certification decision was completed);
- c) the name and address of the client;
- d) the scope of certification (see 3.10);

NOTE Where the standard(s) or other normative document(s) (see 7.1.2) to which conformity is being certified include reference to other standards or normative documents, these do not need to be included in the formal certification documentation.

- e) the term or expiry date of certification, if certification expires after an established period;
- f) any other information required by the certification scheme.

7.7.2 The formal certification documentation shall include the signature or other defined authorization of the person(s) of the certification body assigned such responsibility.

NOTE The name and title of an individual whose agreement to be responsible for certification documentation is on record at the certification body is an example of a “defined authorization” other than a signature.
